With all this talk of Scottish design it's possible that I've developed a need to speak in a Scottish accent – ya know what I'm sayin', Laddie? A Scottish accent makes everything sound charming and jovial – even War and Peace, if read in a Scottish accent, would become a light-hearted page-turner. Like this long-winded and often dull Classic needs a cheeky voice to bring it to life – Traditional design needed Gideon Mendelson to perk it up.

Not only is Gideon's deep and vast understanding of design apparent in his work but his passion for the design process is clear in the thoughtful consideration for the materials and techniques he uses: from how to best feature the fabrics to how the chair will function in the room.

Gideon brilliantly fuses Traditional Scottish design with the charismatic and delightful quality found among the people of this part of the world – using subtle nods and jabs to lighten an otherwise serious Classic. Charming accents.

About Elle

I'm an interior designer, New Yorker and water slide fanatic. Design is my passion and New York City is my inspiration. I am the proud auntie of two little nieces and two little nephews who remind me what beautiful furniture is really meant for...practicing sweet ninja jumps.

When designing for my clients, it's my priority to make sure each design is thoughtful and completely original, as each person is a unique individual. I have gone to great lengths to discover new design and am excited to share my finds!
